Waterless bathing products

Klinion Personal Care waterless bathing products

Waterless bathing products offer a hygienic, comfortable and cost effective alternative to traditional washing with soap, towels and water. Waterless bathing is increasing in popularity due to better time efficiencies compared to traditional washing, less physical effort for the carer and more dignity for the patient. Additionally, waterless bathing not only reduces the risk of infection through cross-contamination via the wash bowl, but also the use of water.

Ultimately, waterless bathing delivers a comprehensive skincare experience with less washing time, resulting in more quality time to spend with the patient¹.

We are proud to introduce our full range of Klinion Personal Care waterless bathing products, which are widely used in nursing homes and hospitals for washing patients. Klinion waterless bathing products were developed specifically for managing dry, fragile and irritated elderly skin. Waterless bathing is an ideal solution for patients requiring incontinence care, therefore, our waterless bathing products contain mild cleaning and naturally sourced components to support healthy skin.
